The first place winner of the Murrieta Rotary Club Speech Contest is eligible to compete in successive years. A District first place winner (finals) may not participate again.

Topics for Speeches: The topics for speeches are to be of current interest and importance and must include and use concepts from the Rotary Four-Way Test as methods of discussion or analysis in the body of the speech. In other words, concepts from the Four-Way Test are to be integrated into the main points of the speech. Topics must be appropriate to analysis by the concepts of the test. For example, it would be far-fetched to discuss terrorism or war in terms of the test concepts. A brief reference to the Four-Way Test in the introduction and/or conclusion is not sufficient.

The Rotary Four-Way Test

Of the things that we think, say or do:

1. Is it the TRUTH?
2. Is it FAIR to all concerned?
3. Will it build GOODWILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?
4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

The Purpose of the Speech is to address an ethical problem using the principles of the Four-Way Test. The problem to be discussed should be something from the speaker's personal experience, general knowledge, or research. It also may be the result of a course of study covered in school. It is recommended that the introduction of the speech include a clear statement of purpose.

The goal of the speech may be either informative or persuasive. Speakers are urged to develop speech content that is stronger in fact and evidence using research citations rather than emotion, feelings, and opinion.

Content of the Speech: the original work of the speaker, free from plagiarism and free from language that is obscene, profane, unpatriotic, racist or intolerant. Keep in mind that an essay does not transfer into a successful speech. Speakers are advised to use conversational style with short, clear sentences.

If quotations are used they must be necessary, very short, and must be identified verbally. For example, "In the words of Winston Churchill, he says that "

Nonverbal finger quotes are not appropriate. When presenting important facts from print research, cite the sources in the following manner: "As I read in Time Magazine last month, it reports that" Or "According to the Journal of the American Medical Association in June of this year, I found that ..."

The speech should be organized with four essential parts: attention getter (this may be a statement or rhetorical question), introduction, body, and conclusion. The main points, facts, discussion, explanation, and examples should be in the body of the speech. No visual aids are to be used.

Delivery: Speakers are to deliver an extemporaneous speech. That means that the speech will be planned, written (at least in outline form), and practiced for ease of delivery. One side of three 3x5 file cards may be used to aid delivery. No more than three file cards may be used. The speech must not be read/delivered from a manuscript or any other word-for-word notes.

Judges will evaluate the speakers' delivery from the following: volume, vocal variety and clarity, speed of delivery, pronunciation, and non-verbal cues (eye-contact, posture, natural hand gestures, confidence, and professional appearance).

Judges and Timekeepers: there will be three judges and two time-keepers. The score sheets and time sheets are confidential, and the decision of the judges is final. If there is a protest against any speech or speaker, such protest must be presented in writing to the Murrieta Rotary Club Speech Chairperson, Kelly Orchard, prior to the judges' decision and awards. There will be no tie awards. Judges will deliberate and vote to break any tie. Judges will report the winners to the chairperson in written form.

Timing: Each speech must be at least five minutes in length and must not exceed eight minutes. Eight penalty points will be assigned to any speaker for each minute under or over the allotted time. The timer will signal any speaker at the eight minute mark.

Disqualification: Any competitor will be disqualified if he or she arrives after a contest has begun, or if the speech is determined to be profane, obscene, unpatriotic, racist or intolerant, or if the speech is plagiarized.

ENTRY CERTIFICATES This competition is limited to 15 speakers and speakers will be entered on a time of receipt basis. An entry confirmation message will be sent to each speaker entered in the contest.

REQUIRED: Fill out two pages 5 and 6 and submit via email as directed.

Important Notice: This application is required for competition; Submit no later than Friday, February 25, 2022
